698D:

Are you a soon-to-graduate Masters student in English? Then this capstone course is for you. This section of 698D focuses on the substantial revision of written work for submission to an appropriate target publication of your choice.

Additional topics of discussion will include professional development within and related to English Studies. You get to shape the course in its early stages, so think about what you hope to get from the experience before our first day!
